This sprint aimed to outline the core features of the system, define its boundaries, and assess user expectations to guide our development approach.

SPRINT RETROSPECTIVE

What went well:

- We worked well together and shared our ideas.
- Everyone helped in planning the tasks.

What could be improved:

- We should communicate more clearly so everyone knows what to do.
- Some tasks were a bit confusing, so we need better role division.
- We need to make sure everyone understands their job in the project.
- It would help if we checked in more often to stay on the same page.
- We should explain things more when someone is unsure about a task.

What needs to be done:

- Make sure all tasks are finished and saved properly in our GitHub.
- Check if everything is ready for Sprint 2—look for anything we might have missed.
- Fix small issues in the user stories, diagrams, and task breakdown based on feedback.
- Have a quick final review as a team to double-check everything before starting the next sprint.
